

Clarification from Llangattock Community Council 20th February 2024

While it is correct to say that the original lease agreement was between Powys County Council and Llangattock Community Council (LCC), that same document set up a separate charity, the Llangattock Community Hall Management Committee, and made it responsible for running the hall. At the same time, LCC was appointed Custodian Trustee and holds the lease in the same way as the Charity Commission or a solicitor or bank would. LCC has no powers or responsibilities in relation to the running of the hall other than to check certain capital spending decisions made by the committee.
